

Emergency Medical Technicians

You will play a vital role in the perceived and actual safety of the event

Vision:

What you deliver: Insure a safe event by your presence and respond to emergency situations to render medical aid.

How you deliver: Follow the Instructions of the Director of Emergency Services and your Stage Captains. Give fellow workers and competitors a successful experience. Create a professional but friendly atmosphere for workers and competitors.

Responsibilities:

Stage Operations:

Review the event safety plan and your control locations with the Director of Emergency Services prior to the event.

Arrive on time at all meeting places and your assigned control locations.

Review the event stage safety plan with the Stage Captain when you arrive at the stage.

Assure that your vehicle is in position and ready to respond should you need to respond during the stage.

Assure the safety of every one at or around your control including spectators, fellow workers, and competitors.

Follow the directions of your Stage Captain.

Time Requirements

Our event uses the "Stage Team" concept. Each Team works several stages during the event. In most cases the team is divided up into two working groups on at each end of the stage. EMT are located at the start of each stage and at midway points on some longer stages.

EMT's are needed all day on Saturday. Control crews and EMT's typically head out to their control locations very early in the morning by 8 AM and will be there until all the competitors have finished their stages at about 7 PM.

If you can not work all the days of the event, please indicate this on your worker registration form and let the Director of Emergency Services know this before the event.

If anything comes up that keeps you from attending the event be sure to notify the Director of Emergency Services right away. For the safety of the event it is important that we fill your position!

Environment and Necessary Equipment

Of course your EMT equipment. If possible we also need items like "Jaws of Life" and backboards if you access or know of a source.
